Warm Water Seminar Series: expert anglers demonstrate fishing techniques in hourly “through-the-glass” presentations

Warm Water Demo Tank offers unique underwater perspectives at the Washington Sportsmen’s Show®, January 27-31

PUYALLUP— The quest for “landing a big one” continues as beginning to advanced anglers alike benefit from expert advice and tips from the region’s top fishing pros at the Washington Sportsmen’s Show®. Perched on the 30-foot-long, 3,000-gallon Warm Water Demo Tank, they will be sharing their knowledge of the Northwest’s best warm water fishing opportunities and the latest techniques.

The continued growth in fishing for warm water species is reflected in topics covering bass, walleye, muskie and more in the Warm Water Seminar Series. Demonstrations at the fully stocked, glass-walled “Warm Water Demo Tank” offer a unique perspective on how fish react to lures and techniques.

Speakers for the Warm Water seminars include Ed Iman, “Jigging for Walleye;” Perry Peterson, “Techniques for Tiger Muskies;” Don Hogue, “Being Versatile with One Bait;” Bob Adkinson, “Columbia River Smallies;” Mark Maderos, “Winter Smallmouth Bass Fishing;” Ron Hobbs, “Basic Worm Fishing for Bass” and others.
